Headline:

Mainly dry with long sunny spells. Light winds.

Today:

Any early mist patches soon clearing to leave a largely dry and bright day with some long spells of sunshine. Small risk of an isolated light shower developing over western hills. Shetland though rather cloudy with a few showers.

Tonight:

Dry evening with late sunshine. Cloud increasing across northern and central Scotland overnight with rain reaching northwest and Orkney towards dawn. Risk of a frost in southeast. Mainly light winds.

Monday:

A bright start in the south but generally a much cloudier day than of late with outbreaks of showery rain spreading southeast. The rain heaviest in north. Breezier than recently.

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:

Rather cloudy with outbreaks of rain or showers, heaviest in northeast Tuesday, turning wintry on hills. The best of any brighter spells in west. Occasionally fresh northerly winds. Cooler.
